Upon being shown to his desk one of them hurriedly whispered something in his ear. Mr. Waterhouse grabbed his permit book, signed his name to a pass and the lady vanished and jumped into the hack like a small streak of lightning. When asked what all the hurry was about Mr. Waterhouse said the ladies wanted a pass to go to the Kapiolani Maternity Home and one of them wanted it in a hurry too. She got it.

CLOSED PORTS ON KAUAI.

Valdemar Knudsen Compelled to Return on Board Steamer.

Kauai residents are keeping up their little independent republic as well as Maui and Hawaii. Valdemar Knudsen, one of the most prominent residents of the Garden Isle, for the purpose of getting home from Honolulu went into quarantine five or six days on the steamer Kauai off Honolulu harbor. Then he was transferred to the steamer James Mackee, which carried him to Nawiliwili.

Sheriff S. Wilcox permitted Mr. Knudsen to go on shore. Senator Rice and other members of the local defense sanitary guard, however, would not allow the venerable resident and ex-legislator rest for the soles of his feet. They compelled him to go aboard the steamer again, and so he has returned to Honolulu. The guard would allow no freight to be landed on the island.
